

MOOVINV LAUNCH AN ENHANCED SURPLUS INVENTORY MARKETPLACE

AIMING TO PROVIDE SUPPORT FOR MANUFACTURING BUYERS AND SELLERS

With ongoing supply chain difficulties and raw material shortages, many companies are having to adapt their current and long-term operational processes. MoovinV, who specialise in connecting buyers and sellers of certified surplus raw material via an online marketplace, can empathise and resonate with the daily challenges all areas of the supply chain are facing.

o provide support, MoovinV are proud to announce that they have recently launched an enhanced online surplus marketplace. The new website - www. moovinv.com - aims to offer solutions to both buyers and sellers across numerous industries, including Aerospace, Defence, Oil & Gas, and the Medical Industry.

The most prominent new feature of the enhanced site includes an expansion of product range. In response to requests from many existing customers, MoovinV have recently introduced new categories on their marketplace: Surplus Cutting Tools, Composites, Hardware, and Metal Powders. These products are now featured amongst a variety of surplus metal alloys, such as Titanium, Aluminium and Stainless Steel.

This additional product range will provide sellers with the opportunity to liquidate more excess inventory - thus generating cash flow and reducing the amount of working capital tied up in surplus.

Alongside this economic benefit, the opportunity to sell surplus products can also reduce service costs and increase vital storage space. All surplus products can be simply listed on the site, free of charge, to a large network of buyers across the globe.

The new site also addresses the unprecedented circumstances buyers are facing with limited availability and extremely long lead times on materials and products. Buyers can quickly find readily available surplus products via an improved search engine and customer-friendly design. They are also able to submit offers to sellers, instantaneously and efficiently.

Other features, such as access to transportation quotations and the ability to make payment through the website itself, have also been added. This aims to simplify a buyer's purchasing journey and provide an enhanced turnkey solution.

In addition to this, MoovinV offer their ongoing support via their offices located across the globe. Specific requirements can be sent directly to the MoovinV team, and they will support with sourcing the product.

Jacques Ouellet (CEO & Founder) commented "Following months of dedication and commitment to this project, we are extremely excited to announce the launch of our online marketplace. We hope the expansion of products and the newly designed site can provide support to many organisations across the globe throughout these difficult times"
